

BARRE DAILY TIMES

Subscriptions: One year, $5; one month, 25 cts.; single copy, 1 cent.

Members of the Publishers' Press.—The latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world are received by the Daily Times up to the hour of going to press.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Published Every Weekday Afternoon.

Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1903.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

2,900

"Times, of Course"

That's what all the newsboys say when asked which Barre paper sells the best. There is no doubt about it.

Panama has approved the canal treaty. It now remains for the Senate of this country to do the same.

The snow obscures whatever defects there are in the roadway on North Main street, but unfortunately the defects still remain.

Dowie thinks that his opponents "presume" too much. Presumption has been Dowie's own mill-stone, but perhaps he does not know it.

The merchants of Rutland have signed an agreement not to use the trading stamp in their business. Rutland and Brattleboro have now followed Barre's lead.

It now develops that the report that a West Burke, Vermont, school teacher pulled out a pupil's tongue for a misdemeanor is not true. The incident happened in the barbaric state of New York. The vindictive of the Vermont school teacher as a class is pleasing. We didn't think she was capable of it.

The Universal Exposition at St. Louis is expected to be open for business May 1, 1904. The work is being carried on with characteristic western energy. Forty-two states and fifty-three foreign governments will have exhibits. Even the Negus of Abyssinia studies with the contagious ardor of that born ambassador and persuader, Mr. Skinner. The States have appropriated $3,000,000, more than they spent on the Chicago Exposition, in its architecture, landscape and watercolor, that reached a perfection that might well seem too high for rivalry. The St. Louis folks have turned their ancient competition with Chicago into a new channel. They mean to surpass the Chicago show.—New York Sun.

And to think that the Negus of Abyssinia is to have the bit of belated honor that is denied the Vermonters! The Negus "kindled," and the Vermonters did not "kindle" under the sure persuasion of the advance agent of this show. Let the Negus and the states of the United States have what satisfaction they can get out of erecting a gaudy building at a cost of tens of thousands, whose end will be not much better than the junk-heap. Vermonters have a better means of spending money and a means which will bring them results. A few people of the state have the right idea and are pushing it.

The destruction of the Medical School building of the University of Vermont is, of course, a great loss to the college; but looking at it from another standpoint, there may be some gain even in the loss. It may lead to the construction of a larger and better equipped building. Those who are connected with the college know that the quarters of the medical branch of the institution had long ago outgrown the building which was devoted to its use. They were inadequate in every way for the growing needs of the college, the lack being particularly noticeable in the chemical laboratory department. Also the class rooms were too small for the increasing number of students, while the executive quarters were cramped in the same proportion. Now that the old building, from which so many men have gone out with their medical degrees, is practically destroyed it will leave no other alternative than the erection of a commodious building. The demand which would have to be met sooner or later is now only made more urgent. If we mistake not a movement was started last June for the new building, and it is likely that in its loss the university will yet see much gain.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

The internal revenue collections for this district, which comprises the states of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, for the month ending Nov. 30, were $38,800.90. For the corresponding month of last year the collections were $40,800.00, showing a decrease of $10,543.73.

The annual rendezvous of Vermont Consistory of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, Valley of Burlington, a state organization, will be held at the rooms of the rite at the Masonic temple in Burlington Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Charles H. Stearns, commander-in-chief, of Johnson will be present and preside.

News has been received at Richford of the death of George Derby of Fitzwilliam, N. H., while at work in the woods. He died almost instantly. Mr. Derby was 29 years old and had lived in Richford all his life until two years ago when he went with his wife to New Hampshire. He is survived by a mother, four brothers and one sister.

Owing to the long absence of rain, water in the springs at Bethel is getting low and many supplies have failed. The railroad supply is getting short and domestic consumers have been notified that they will be cut off this week. At White River Junction the farmers are complaining for lack of water for their stock as most of the smaller streams are dried up and but little water is in the river.

Fred D. Streeter of Starksboro, son of E. W. Streeter, has been missing for the past four weeks and his parents feel much anxiety about him. He is 22 years old, a young man of good habits and is very well liked wherever known. About four weeks ago he left Hinesburg for his home in Starksboro and his friends have found no trace of him since. He had one or two hundred dollars on his person and his friends fear that he has met with foul play.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

The Stock Market Wizard.
"It's called 'black art' throughout the land.
And yet to me it's funny.
To take a lot of water and
Transform it into money."

The Thing Certain.
"You reckon dis world's a friend ter grace?"
"I dunno, but possum is mighty all-in."—Atlanta Constitution.

Mary.
Mary in the kitchen stove
Once hid her little lamb;
She left it there, but when she looked
The lamb was dead; it had been cooked;
And Mary said, "Oh, how careless!"
—Columbia Jester.

Made Four of Them.

"I drew a picture last night that made me $25 richer."
"What was it?"
"A king."

POSTAL FRAUD TRIAL.

Government Continues Examination of Upton and McGregor.

Baltimore, Dec. 3.—In the United States district court, Judge Morris presiding, the case of the government against Columbus Ellsworth Upton and Thomas W. McGregor, clerks in the postoffice department, indicted for the perpetration of postal frauds in securing exorbitant prices for mail pouches, was resumed. The government was represented by United States District Attorney John C. Rose and Assistant District Attorney Soper and Charles J. Bonaparte and the defendants by William Shepard Bryan, attorney general elect of Maryland.

Miss Mary F. Moody, a clerk in the postoffice department, was called as a witness by the government and identified the fraudulent bills for mail pouches contracted for by the defendants, testifying that she had handed them to McGregor in person.

Charles E. Smith, the leather merchant who furnished the pouches, was again placed upon the stand and continued his testimony, relating how he had entered into a conspiracy with Upton and McGregor to furnish pouches at 90 cents which cost only 35 cents.

Two Killed in Collision.

New York, Dec. 3.—Two men were killed and four injured in the collision between a freight train and a milk train at West Nutley, N. J. The dead are P. J. Crilly, Jersey City, engineer of the freight train, and Fireman John Batmos of Port Jervis, N. Y., of the milk train. The injured are Conductor J. H. Honnoll of Suffern, N. Y.; E. B. Ordway of Port Jervis, conductor of the freight train; Flagman Henry Miller and Engineer Morgan of the milk train.

Bassett's Resignation Rejected.

Durham, N. C., Dec. 3.—The board of trustees of Trinity college, after an all night session, declined to accept the resignation of Professor J. S. Bassett, which had been tendered because of the criticism following a recent declaration by the professor that Booker T. Washington is the greatest man born in the south, with the exception of General Lee, in the past century.

GOWN GOSSIP.

Gold braid trims many of the beaver hats.

No woman not as young and fair as she will ever be should yield to the temptation of an emine hat. That fur is for youth and beauty.

Satin will be much worn this winter, as well as the heavy, rich silk stuffs which are so well suited to the new (or revived) gaudy skirt.

"Ribbon flowers," rosettes, "dangles" and ornamental bows for gowns, hats, waists and the hair are more popular and more beautiful than ever.

Woolen waists, and especially colored ones, are made twice as attractive if instead of tight linen collars airy lace or embroidered linen or lawn ties are worn with them.

Heavy cotton materials for winter shirt waists are seen in colors as well as white, stripes and small figures in pink, blue, green and yellow on a white ground being shown.

THRONE LIGHTS.

Prince Ferdinand, nephew and probable successor of the king of Roumania, is called the crown prince by courtesy.

The progressive ruler of Basutoland, King Lewanika, has taken the hint from Japan and is sending a number of his numerous sons to be educated in Europe and America.

King Edward perhaps wears as many different types of necktie as any living man. His predilection, however, is toward ties that have been made from some spotted material, preferably dark with spots of a light gray or white upon it.

Emperor William buys all his hats, boots, shoes, ties and sticks in Potsdam. His uniforms, ordinary suits and other wear are made in Berlin, and his measure is taken once a year. The clothes have to fit when sent, as the kaiser, like the kaiserin, is never "tried on."

PIGEONS.

Pigeons, it is said, can upon occasion outstrip the fastest express train, but their average flight is only at the rate of about thirty-four miles an hour.

Saturday at Vaughan's

Ladies' White Outing Flannel Night Robes!

Here's a sale that's bound to fill the store Saturday with eager buyers. Values that are remarkable, to say the least, and it's just the sort of a garment you want these cold Winter nights. Here's the fact of the matter: We bought the goods months ago to run as a leader at $1.00 per garment. The makers were unable to turn them out fast enough, so were unable to fill our order until last week. We have too many. We need the room, and we believe that nine out of every ten women would like a pair of these nice White Robes at the reduced price, 79c each. You will wonder how they could be made for this price. Saturday, only 79c.
